

Figure 3. Land Ownership or Control by Rock Mining Companies in the Lake Belt Area.

Rock mining companies own or control 41.6 square miles (26,800 acres) of land which is 47 percent of the total 89.1 square miles (57,000 acres) in the Lake Belt Area. Most of these lands were purchased by the rock industry as mining reserves in the 1960s - 1970s.
